

Our current culmination of wines is a grand showcase of exceptional small batch producers from all corners of Australia, with little known producers from abroad. Our list shows a diversity of varieties and steers away from the norm.

Known varietals like Chardonnay or Pinot Noir are exemplified in ways to show their versatility. Leko's Chardonnay is produced by one half of Adelaide's Koerner brothers, and shows fruit parcels from one of South Australia's best vineyards and possesses striking vanilla, toasty characteristics, with textural elegance found only when the winemaker is well equipped with the knowledge of the grape.

Alternatively move yourself into something different. Somos' Cortese is a toasty, saline driven varietal found in Piedmont, but done brilliantly right here in the Adelaide Hills. Or, find yourself moving away from Pinot Noir for the night and diving head first into the current flavour of the country, nebbiolo. Brendan and Laura Carter have nailed this under their label Unico Zelo, and drinks like a dream.

Two Tonne Tasmania

Ricky Evans had been making wine in Tasmania for several years when he branched out and started making wine of his own. In order to do that, he bought two tonnes of Pinot Noir and started his journey in the North of Tasmania in Tamar Valley. Ricky was a finalist in the 'Young Gun in Wine' award for 2016 and 2017 and won the People's Choice award in 2016. Ricky believes that with extra care in the vineyard he can create wines that require little intervention, showing the true characters of the Tamar Valley in his wines. Two Tonne runs by the simple ethos of 'Small Parcels, Big Love' and we are very excited to showcase these wines as the only restaurant or bar on the Gold Coast with access to these wines, and limited stock all over the country. Enjoy a glass, or a tasting flight and let us tell you more about these amazing wines.

// Two Tonne Tasmania TMV Riesling - Tamar Valley, Tasmania - $15 $70

Bright fruit, intertwined with a small amount of residual sugar makes it the perfect Riesling to drink now. Tasmanian Riesling is always sought after due to the cooler climate, and ability for the Riesling to ripen bringing out beautiful fruit character. Slightly textured, smooth drinking, subtle fruit and the bright acidity you get from Riesling is calmed and helps make a balanced wine

// Two Tonne Tasmania TMV Chardonnay - Tamar Valley, Tasmania - $15 $70

Made from two separate parcels on Ricky's vineyard this chardonnay oozes class and is made in a very classical style. One parcels sees minimal malolactic fermentation, the other parcel sees none, as this wine shows bright acidity and minerality. Green apple, Lemon sorbet notes, intertwined with slatey, steely minerality. Brilliant, bright expression of Chardonnay from Tasmania.

// Two Tonne Tasmania TMV Pinot Noir - Tamar Valley, Tasmania - $17 $75

Ricky's pride and joy, Brilliant deep fruit characters and an awesome savoury backbone that we have found synonymous with Pinot's from the North of Tasmania. Picked from three different sites, and 25% whole bunch. This wine shows smoky characters, soft spice and deep fruits. A seriously savoury Pinot Noir, worlds difference from its EST counterpart.

// Two Tonne Tasmania EST Pinot Noir - East Coast, Tasmania - $17 $75

From the town of Bicheno in Tasmania's North East, the vineyard has views of the ocean and the seabreeze washes over the vineyard to mark its own unique characteristic. Small parcels of whole bunch in this wine also but this Pinot is nothing like its Northern brother. Bright red fruits, cherries, red currants, incredible perfume, rose petals on the nose and a hint of lavender. Super delicate tannin with a blood orange acid line. Really, really good Pinot Noir for current drinking.

// Tasting flight - a taste of each wine (75ml) and a bit more information - $30
